

PARAREADING

ParaReading provides a foundation for understanding the literacy components all students need to be successful readers and writers. Participants will receive strategies to support students in the areas of Phonemic Awareness, Phonics, Fluency, Vocabulary, Comprehension and Writing. Each session provides engagement through discussion and practice in the focus areas. Resources will be provided so participants can begin using strategies and activities immediately with students .

ParaReading, a LETRS (Foundations) supplemental Module, prepares paraprofessionals for the increasing demands placed on them in today's schools. LETRS is not a prerequisite for this workshop.

Target Audience: Paraprofessionals or tutors responsible for providing reading instruction

Cost: $180 -This program is currently eligible to ParaProfessionals (an exception to the guidelines) using the Macomb PDF options for registration fees (see guidelines on the registration website). This workshop consists of five (5) 1/2 day sessions. You must attend all sessions to receive a certificate.
